

VICTORIA HUDSON

I always used to be angry. I got excluded from school and just didn't see a future for myself. Then I went on The Prince's Trust Fairbridge programme and now I've got so much to look forward to.

I went into foster care when I was young, but nothing seemed to go right. I just felt so unhappy. I was lonely, and I missed my mum.

I couldn't see the point in anything. I was really angry, especially at school. I got picked on and I started skipping lessons and disrupting the class. I was excluded from school, and referred to the Fairbridge programme.

Fairbridge gave me something to look forward to. I made friends, and the activities we got to do were brilliant. It made me feel like I was ready to try anything. I felt less angry and started to think about my future.

Life's much better now. I'm with a new foster family, I've taken nine GCSEs a year early and I've joined the army cadets. In a few years, I'm going to go to university and train as a physiotherapist. I want to be a physio in the Army.

I'M EXCITED ABOUT THE FUTURE AND SO MUCH HAPPIER WITH MY LIFE.
